Stud Service Online Auction: Terms & Conditions

Donating herd: Terms and Conditions

1. Farms may donate more than one stud male for the Online Auction.
2. All farms donating a stud male(s) MUST have an active Alpaca Seller account and stud male details must be up to date on the stud service page of Alpaca Seller. The Online Auction will use these details when presenting the stud male for auction on the website: <https://bas-uk.com/bas-national-show/>
3. The organisers will choose a mixture of stud service sires in order to create a varied auction group. If a colour or type of stud service is over subscribed the BAS National Show organisers reserve the right not to use all donated stud services in the auction.
4. Once a pledge has been made and the stud service has been added to the auction and then sold, the donating farm has committed to providing a drive by stud service to the winning bidder for the 2026 season.
5. By entering a male into the Stud Auction, the donating herd/farm receives the benefit of promotion and accepts responsibility for delivering the stud service as advertised at the advertise location.
If the male is no longer able to provide the service as advertised for any reason (such as infertility, illness, death, or biosecurity restrictions), the donating herd/farm must provide a suitable solution, such as an equivalent alternative male in the 2026 season.
6. The donating farm agrees to provide the winning bidder with a live cria guarantee whereby if the female bred to the donated sire does not have a live cria for more than 24 hours after birth the donating farm will offer drive by services to the same female. Any substitution of a female, after the original breeding, will be at the sole discretion of the donating farm and there is no implied necessity for this to be allowed.
7. An agreement may be possible between the donating farm and the winning bidder to upgrade the stud service to a mobile service, with addition costs to be paid for by the winning bidder. This arrangement should be confirmed with the donating farm before bidding takes place. The donating farm is under no obligation to provide mobile services.
8. The donating farm is to be reasonable in finding suitable times for the winning bidders female to be bred. A suitable area for the drive by mating must be provided by the donating farm that is clean, secure and non contiguous with other animals.
9. The donating farm has the right to turn away the winning bidder if the female presented for mating is over fleeced, too young or shows signs of sickness and/or disease.
10. The donating farm has the right to request that the female being presented for mating has had a negative Enferplex Test, via Surefarm in the past 30 days.

11. All stud services are subject to current Government guidelines. Buyers are responsible for checking the BTV-3 zone status of their herd in relation to the stud they are bidding on.
